In the reference 1st cited, the Government introduced the Contributory Pension Scheme (CPS) with effect from 01.09.2004, applicable to all State Government employees recruited on or after 01.09.2004. The scheme was adopted in line with the National Pension System (NPS) model of the Government of India and made applicable to all State Government employees recruited on or after 01.09.2004.

Subsequently, in the reference 3rd cited, the benefit was further extended by allowing a one-time option to all Central Government employees, who were appointed against posts/vacancies advertised or notified prior to the introduction of the National Pension System, but joined service thereafter and consequently came under the NPS.
